Community Situation Report

2020 COVID-19 Pandemic

March 27, 2020

From Dr. Tom Locke--JeffCo Health Officer:

“There is very preliminary evidence that the stay at home efforts in Washington may be having some positive effect. The governor expressed a concern that these efforts may not be evenly practiced across the state. We want to make sure that Jefferson County is leading the state in the stay at home efforts. We are at a critical state and our efforts in next two weeks will determine if we will be able to manage the medical surge.”

How to Help/Community Face Mask Program:

Details for making masks for community use ONLY are on Jefferson County Emergency Management’s webpage at <https://www.co.jefferson.wa.us/1450/How-to-Help>. Click on the COVID-19-Resources option , top/left on the page for the pattern, instructions, where to drop off masks and where to get a mask if needed.

PLEASE DO NOT call the hospital for information or deliver any masks to Jefferson Healthcare. If you are interested in volunteering with the DEM, information is on the webpage. As of Fri., Mar.27, there are two additional face mask drop off locations: Food Coop:

Book Drop—414 Kearney St., Port Townsend and Quilcene Community Center book drop—294952 Hwy 101, Quilcene.

Internet Access

Some of our community members do not have internet access from their homes. While the Port Townsend and Port Hadlock libraries are closed, both have WiFi availability 24-hours a day that can be accessed from their respective parking lots. Please let friends and neighbors without internet service at their homes know about this service.
